Birmingham, Michigan (December 2, 2021) (BUSINESS WIRE) – OneStream, a leader in corporate performance management (CPM) solutions for the world's leading enterprises, today announced its classification as an Exemplary Vendor in the Ventana Research 2022 Value Index on Business Planning. OneStream was also recognized as a Value Index Leader in the adaptability, reliability and validation categories of the report based on its ability to meet a broad range of enterprise requirements, such as security and privacy, and scalability.

The Ventana Research Value Index on Business Planning is based on a comprehensive examination of 14 vendors' products in seven evaluation categories - examining product experience and its ability to support the scope of business and technology planning needs, while also addressing the customer experience, supporting vendor validation, total cost of ownership and return on investment.

"OneStream has been investing to expand the capabilities of our platform to support the demanding financial and operational planning requirements of global enterprises," said Tom Shea, CEO of OneStream. "Being recognized as an Exemplary Vendor in the Ventana Business Planning Value Index is validation that OneStream is a great choice for mid-sized to large organizations that need to gain agility in their planning and reporting, while aligning financial and operational plans across the enterprise."

As a leader in adaptability, reliability and validation, OneStream demonstrates excellence in business and technology administration, support for security and privacy, and the highest level of confidence that the platform can operate 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, all year long. Additionally, OneStream's product architecture, performance and scalability, and strong commitment to customer success make it a strong choice for global organizations with more complex requirements, large volumes of data and a broad base of users.

"Ventana Research recognizes OneStream's ability to serve the rigorous business planning needs of finance and operations teams in today's ever-changing business landscape," said Robert Kugel, Senior Vice President and Research Director at Ventana Research. "Its ability to align financial and operational plans with detailed modeling, combined with its Analytic Blend engine, enables users to confidently and effectively assemble a broad range of data to provide action-oriented insights to decision-makers across the enterprise."

The Ventana Research Value Index on Business Planning aims to provide a balanced perspective of vendors and products rooted in an understanding of business drivers and needs. Organizations that consult the Value Index are able to select technology providers that will empower them to achieve the high level of efficiency that is necessary with business planning software. Ventana Research values the importance of a comprehensive, research-based approach to selecting business planning technology as the decision directly impacts the organization's performance potential.
